Baizac extends its deepest gratitude to every individual, company, and organization that contributed to this book. The creation of Brand Iraq—the country's first comprehensive publication dedicated to its soft power—would not have been possible without their unwavering support, and the stories, insights, and aspirations they generously shared.

Their commitment to showcasing Iraq's progress and future potential has been instrumental in shaping the depth and authenticity of this work. The success of presenting Iraq on the global stage stands as a testament to their collective dedication to highlighting the nation's achievements to an influential international audience.

This book is dedicated to Zaha Hadid, the world-renowned Iraqi-British architect celebrated for her futuristic and dynamic designs, and the first woman to receive the prestigious Pritzker Architecture Prize.

Born in Baghdad in 1950, Zaha Hadid's early childhood trips to the ancient Sumerian cities in southern Iraq played a formative role in sparking her interest in architecture. These visits instilled in her a fascination with the forms and structures of ancient civilizations, which later influenced her distinctive design approach.

Zaha Hadid shattered barriers in a traditionally male-dominated profession to become one of the most influential architects of the 21st century. Though much of her groundbreaking work was realized outside Iraq, she remained a proud ambassador of her homeland. Her design for the new headquarters of the Central Bank of Iraq stands as a bold expression of her enduring architectural and symbolic legacy. Today, her story continues to inspire a new generation of Iraqi architects, artists, and designers.

Governance

Iraq is a federal parliamentary republic, governed under the 2005 Constitution, which establishes a system of governance with a separation of powers among the executive, legislative, and judicial branches.

Federal Parliamentary Republic

Governance Type

Governance is the cornerstone of nation branding—it shapes the narrative, sets the tone, and communicates a country's ambitions to its people and the world. In Iraq's case, policy reforms, institutional development, and diplomatic engagement are driving a powerful narrative—one that signals the nation is reclaiming its voice and writing a new chapter on its own terms.

Executive Branch

The executive authority is divided between the President and the Prime Minister. The President, elected by Parliament, serves as the guardian of the Constitution and ensures its implementation. The Prime Minister, also elected by Parliament, holds the most significant executive power, responsible for forming a cabinet, executing government policies, and managing the country's administration.

Legislative Branch

Iraq has a unicameral legislature, the Council of Representatives, consisting of 329 members elected by the people for a four-year term. Parliament is responsible for passing laws, approving the national budget, and holding the executive branch accountable through oversight mechanisms.

Judicial Branch

Iraq's judiciary functions independently, with the Supreme Judicial Council overseeing the judicial system. The Federal Supreme Court, the highest legal authority, is responsible for interpreting the Constitution and resolving disputes between the central government and regional authorities.

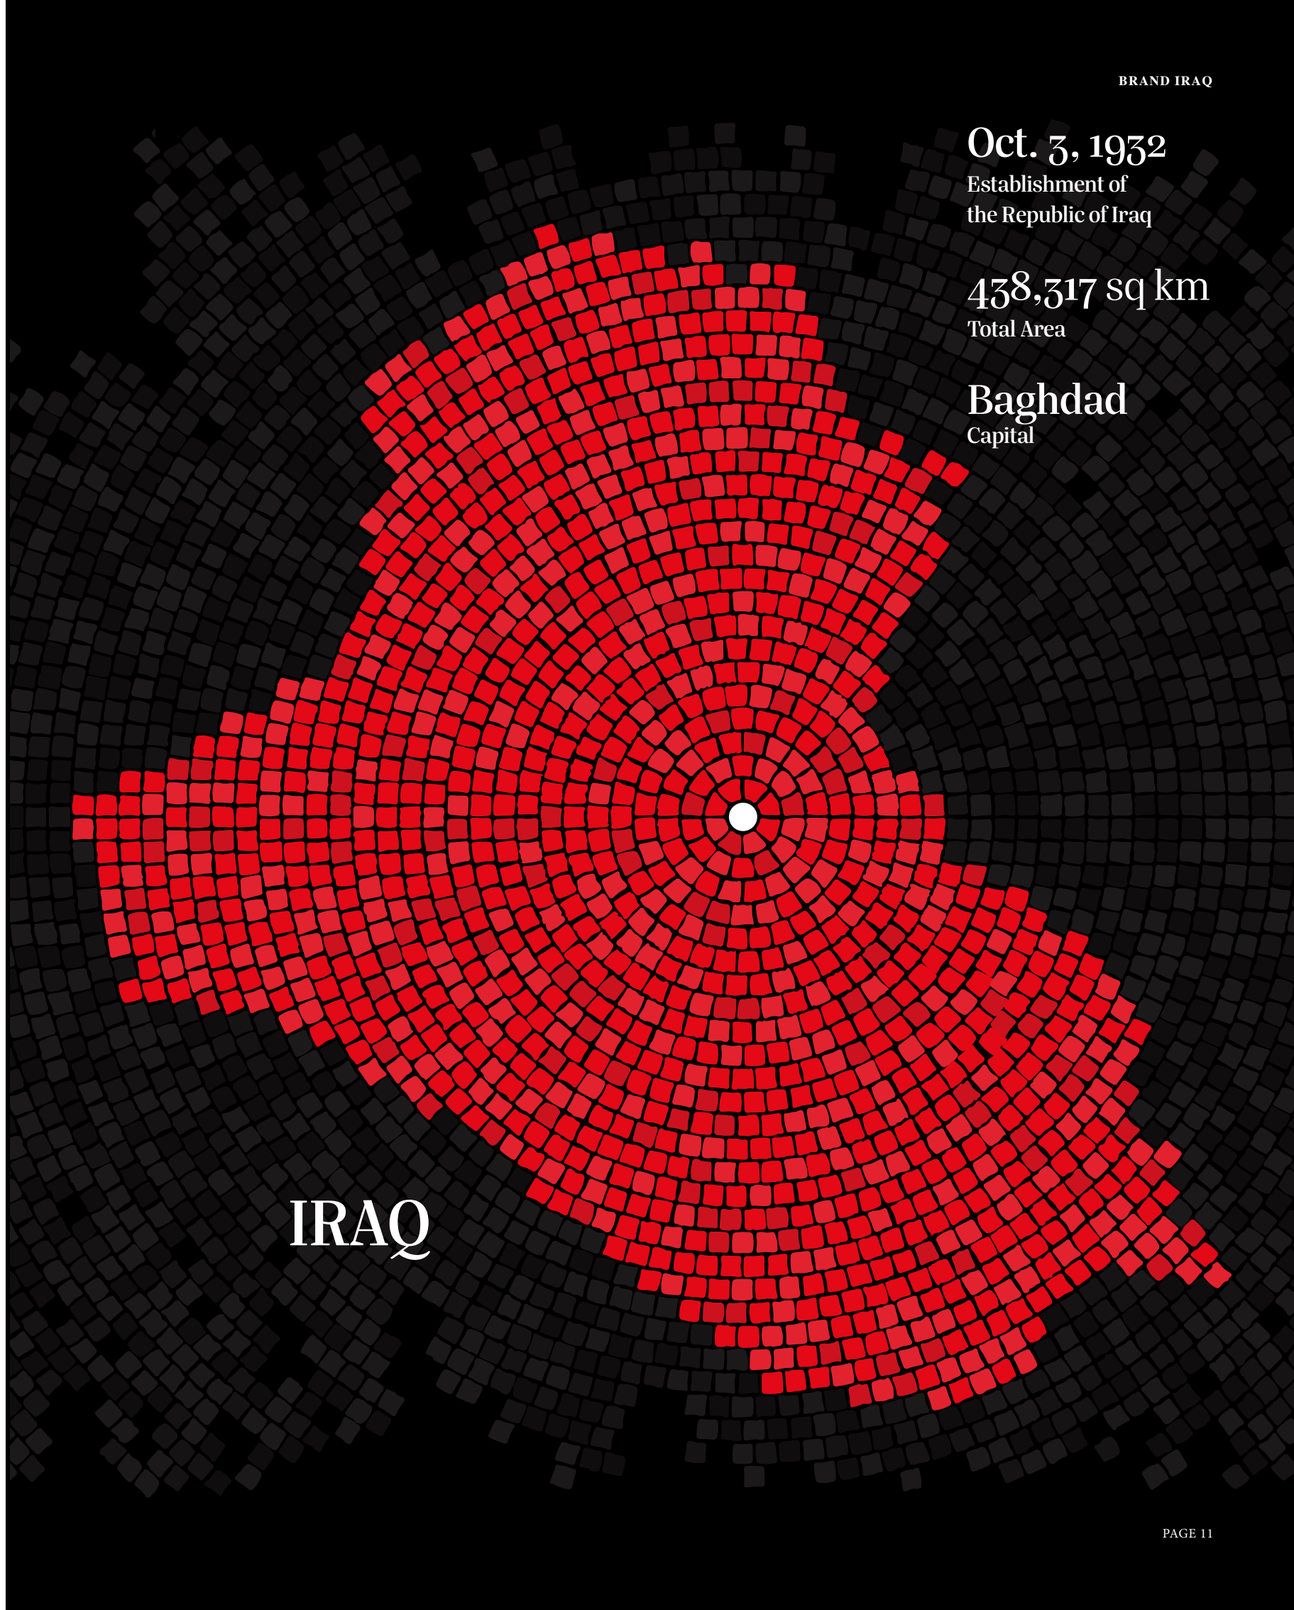

Governorates

Iraq's governance model features a decentralized administrative structure, dividing the country into 19 governorates (provinces).

Each governorate operates with a degree of autonomy, focusing on local development, infrastructure, and public services. This autonomy enables governorates to address local needs more effectively, while federal oversight ensures that national interests are maintained. Each governorate is governed by a Provincial Council, whose members are elected by local residents. The Provincial Council is responsible for selecting a governor, who serves as the executive leader of the governorate.

BUSINESS & ECONOMY

18—135

In the pages ahead, we highlight the people, companies, and projects driving Iraq's economic transformation, along with the government's vision for long-term, sustainable growth.

Just as consumers are drawn to brands that reflect their values and evoke emotion, nations too are shaped by the narratives they project. A country's economic and business landscape—defined by its opportunities, achievements, values, and cultural identity—plays a crucial role in how it is viewed by the outside world.

In this context, businesses have become more than economic actors; they serve as ambassadors of their nations, carrying with them the essence of their home country wherever they operate. In the pages ahead, we spotlight the companies, projects, and individuals driving Iraq's economic transformation. From homegrown success stories to foreign enterprises investing in the country, these profiles offer a multifaceted view of Iraq's evolving business environment.

This chapter also delves into the Iraqi government's economic vision and policy framework aimed at achieving long-term, sustainable growth. Through data-driven insights and sector-specific opportunities, we present a comprehensive picture of Iraq's business and economic potential.

Join us in exploring stories of ambition that are helping shape Iraq's nation branding journey as a business destination.

Enhanced Legal Framework: Investment Law No. 13

Iraq continues to enhance its legislative frameworks, reinforcing its position as a safe and attractive market for investment. The updated legislation now guarantees key investor protections, including land ownership rights and tax exemptions, offering greater security and incentives for international businesses seeking to establish operations in Iraq.

Signing the Singapore Convention

In 2024, Iraq reaffirmed its commitment to global best practices in investment protection by signing the United Nations' Singapore Convention on Mediation. This important step strengthens the country's legal infrastructure, ensuring fair and efficient dispute resolution mechanisms and bolstering the trust of foreign investors.

Celebrating 79 Years of Legacy

Cihan Group is one of Iraq's most prominent brands, with a legacy spanning 79 years. Founded in 1947 by the late Haji Yahya Bajger, the company began as a textile-focused enterprise and has since evolved into a dynamic, multi-sector conglomerate operating across 15 industries. The Group's first major leap came in 1971, when it strategically expanded into the wholesale textile business—opening doors to regional and international markets and laying the foundation for future diversification. Today, Cihan Group employs over 3,000 people and maintains a strong presence across a wide range of sectors, contributing significantly to Iraq's economic development.

CIHAN GROUP

The late Haji Yahya Bajger laid the foundation of Cihan Group in a small textile shop in Erbil in 1947.

The Journey Began with a Vision

Cihan Group proudly marks its 79th anniversary as one of Iraq's leading corporate groups—a legacy shaped by the enduring vision of its founder, the late Haji Yahya Bajger.

What began as a small textile shop in 1947 has grown into one of Iraq's most prominent and diversified business conglomerates, driven by purpose and values. Haji Yahya Bajger's vision extended far beyond commerce; he was deeply committed to advancing Iraq's economic and social development, promoting ethical business practices, and investing in education. Today, Cihan Group continues to honor his legacy, remaining steadfast in its mission to build a better future for the country.

CIHAN FMCG

Since its founding in 1992, Cihan FMCG has grown into a leading force in Iraq's fast-moving consumer goods sector, renowned for its diverse portfolio of high-quality products. Originally focused on tea, the company has steadily expanded over the past three decades to include key household staples such as rice, legumes, dairy products, pulses, tomato paste, and edible oils—catering to the daily needs of Iraqi families. Today, Cihan FMCG exports to nearly 20 countries and dominates Iraq's tea market. As the largest partner of Sri Lanka's Akbar Brothers, it sells around 20,000 tons of tea annually, along with 40,000 tons of rice, 20,000 tons of liquid oil, and substantial volumes of vegetable ghee, legumes, and tomato paste from Türkiye and beyond.

CIHAN MOTORS

Established in 1997, Cihan Motors became the first Iraqi private enterprise to directly import Toyota vehicles from Japan through a strategic partnership with the esteemed Tomen Corporation in 2004. Since then, the company has imported over 100,000 Toyota vehicles, significantly shaping Iraq's automotive landscape. Today, Cihan Motors operates a strong network of seven Toyota facilities across the country, four of which are officially recognized as Toyota Authorized Dealerships. These facilities are fully equipped with 3S capabilities—Sales, Service, and Spare Parts—certified by Toyota Motor Corporation in Japan, underscoring the company's commitment to the highest quality standards and customer satisfaction.

CIHAN MACHINERY

Cihan Machinery's journey in Iraq's heavy machinery sector began in 2005. In 2007, the company signed a Non-Exclusive Dealer Agreement with Kawasaki, and in 2013, it received the Gold Plaque Award in recognition of outstanding sales performance. The Hino Division, established in 2010, has since grown rapidly, with more than 652 Hino trucks sold to date.

Cihan Machinery's commitment to service excellence was further strengthened in 2013 through the signing of the Hino Authorized Service Station (HASS) agreement, which led to its appointment as an official Hino dealer in 2016. In 2019, the company expanded its capabilities by establishing Vehicle Body Builder, a division dedicated to importing essential parts and applications from Türkiye and assembling them in Iraq.

Long-Term Partner in Iraq's Strategic Infrastructure

ILF Consulting Engineers has been a trusted partner in Iraq for decades, delivering projects that strengthen the country's energy security, water resilience, and economic growth. Its sustained involvement in major initiatives reflects a deep commitment to Iraq's long-term development goals.

ILF CONSULTING ENGINEERS

Common Seawater Supply Project (CSSP)

The CSSP represents one of the region's most complex and strategic infrastructure efforts. ILF has supported CSSP since 2010, when it introduced the first technical concepts, and later delivered the FEED for the pipeline system. The ILF team provides full Project Management Consultancy services, including: engineering & construction supervision, FEED verification & interface management, environmental compliance, procurement & O&M support. This project is essential for maintaining reservoir pressure in Iraq's southern oil fields, once realized, will deliver up to 7.5 million barrels/day of treated seawater across a network of 900 km of pipeline. By using seawater instead of freshwater, CSSP also helps preserve scarce inland water resources, securing both energy production and environmental sustainability for Iraq.

Al-Basra Water Project

ILF is leading consultancy and design for one of the Middle East's largest desalination projects, which includes a reverse osmosis plant with total capacity of 1,000,000 m3/day, a drinking water transmission line of 150 km, and a captive power plant with total capacity of 300 MW. This initiative will provide safe drinking water to more than 4 million people in Basra and surrounding areas, improving public health, reducing waterborne diseases, and stabilizing living conditions. By ensuring a reliable water supply, the project also supports economic resilience and social stability in southern Iraq.

ILF is proud to be entrusted with the Project Development, Engineering, and Site Supervision Services for this flagship desalination initiative — a vital step toward strengthening water security and improving quality of life in southern Iraq.

Iraq–Turkiye Pipeline (ITP)

ILF's partnership with Iraq began in the 1970s with the design of the 990 km Iraq–Turkiye Pipeline, a vital export route for crude oil. This infrastructure has been instrumental in generating revenue for Iraq's economy and strengthening its role in global energy markets. The pipeline remains a cornerstone of Iraq's export capacity, reflecting ILF's long-standing contribution to the country's economic development.

Halfaya Project

CLIMATE ACTION

Recognizing the pressing environmental challenges facing Iraq, the government has introduced a range of comprehensive initiatives and policy reforms focused on the sustainable management of water resources, accelerated reforestation, emission reduction, and combating pollution.

Green Industry Initiative

In 2025, the Central Bank of Iraq (CBI) launched the Green Industry Initiative to promote clean energy solutions, in line with the environmental policies of central banks worldwide. As part of this initiative, the CBI offers low-interest loans of up to 500 million dinars per local brick factory—through licensed Iraqi banks—to support their transition from high-pollution black oil to cleaner liquefied petroleum gas.

Environmental Protection Fund

To combat air pollution and address climate-related challenges, the CBI is allocating 1 billion dinars to the Environmental Protection and Improvement Fund to help the industrial sector reduce its environmental footprint and advance sustainability efforts.

BP IN IRAQ

BP finalized a landmark agreement with the Government of Iraq to redevelop several major oil and gas fields in the Kirkuk region, marking a significant milestone in the country's energy sector. The agreement is expected to bring substantial economic benefits to Iraq's Kirkuk region, including job creation, enhancements to local supply chains, and broader economic growth.

420,000 barrels per day

The agreement outlines a comprehensive plan to upgrade these fields, with the goal of maximizing hydrocarbon recovery and increasing crude oil production to a peak target of 420,000 barrels per day.

400-megawatt power plant

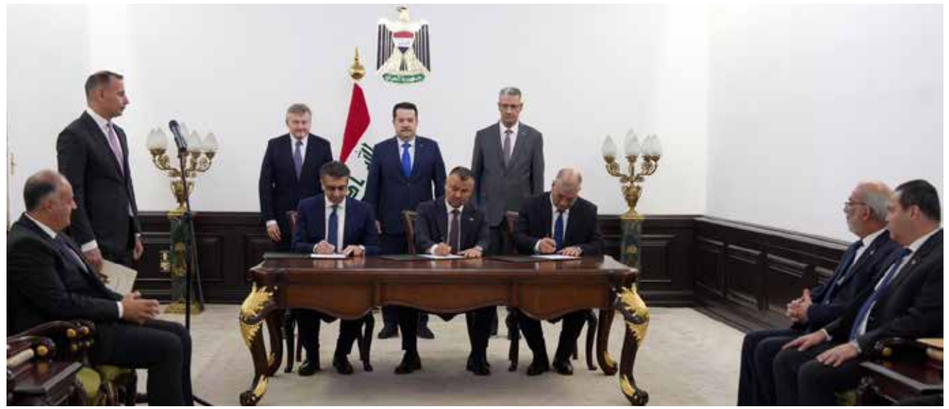

The project includes the construction of a 400-megawatt power plant to help meet the country's electricity demands.

400 million standard cubic feet per day

It also provides for the utilization of associated gas by rehabilitating and expanding facilities operated by the North Gas Company, aiming to produce 400 million standard cubic feet per day.

20 billion barrels

The initial phase aims to produce over three billion barrels of oil equivalent, while the broader resource potential within the contract area is estimated at up to 20 billion barrels.

TOTALENERGIES IN IRAQ

TotalEnergies has launched a series of strategic projects in Iraq to strengthen the country's energy infrastructure and advance its sustainability goals. In 2021, the company signed a landmark $27 billion agreement with the Government of Iraq to implement four major energy projects. At the heart of this agreement is the Gas Growth Integrated Project (GGIP), a comprehensive initiative designed to harness Iraq's natural gas resources and improve its electricity supply.

50 million cubic feet per day

The ArtawiGas25 project represents a significant $250 million investment by TotalEnergies, designed to reduce gas flaring and strengthen Iraq's energy security. The project will process 50 million cubic feet per day of associated gas from the Ratawi field, which was previously flared, and redirect it to local power plants—providing electricity to approximately 200,000 households in Basra.

1-gigawatt solar power

As part of its commitment to renewable energy, TotalEnergies is developing a 1-gigawatt solar power plant in Iraq. Planned in phases between 2025 and 2027, the plant is expected to supply electricity to approximately 350,000 homes and prevent 2 million tons of CO_2 emissions annually in the Basra region—substantially contributing to Iraq's renewable energy capacity.

5 million barrels of water per day

TotalEnergies' Common Seawater Supply Project includes the construction of a seawater treatment facility situated between the ports of Khor Zubair and Umm Qasr. In its initial phase, the plant will have the capacity to treat 5 million barrels of water per day. By replacing the current reliance on freshwater sources from rivers and groundwater, the project will help alleviate water scarcity in the region, making an additional 250,000 cubic meters of freshwater available daily for irrigation and local agricultural use.

Local Production. Global Standards.

Turkish ceramic giant Kaleseramik has taken a significant step toward expanding its global footprint by launching local production in Iraq under its Kalebodur brand. In May 2024, Kalebodur Iraq officially commenced operations at its newly established facility in the Daraman Industrial Area of Kirkuk, managed through its Iraqi subsidiary, Al-Sadaf Ceramic and Porcelain Tiles.

KALEBODUR

TUĞRUL SELVI
General Manager, Kale Iraq

Kalebodur has become the brand of choice for architects and designers worldwide, offering elegant, high-quality ceramic and porcelain tile solutions tailored to the demands of contemporary construction. Today, we bring this legacy of innovation and craftsmanship to Iraq.

With a daily production capacity of 7,000 m^2 of matte and glossy porcelain slabs, Kalebodur's Kirkuk factory represents a major milestone in the company's regional growth strategy. The facility will initially focus on producing eight porcelain tile series, tailored to local preferences and offered in the highly demanded sizes of 60x120 cm and 60x60 cm. Its current annual capacity stands at 2.5 million m^2, with plans to scale up to 7 million m^2 to meet the increasing demand in the Iraqi market.

This strategic investment not only reinforces Kalebodur's regional presence but also aims to boost brand visibility within Iraq's rapidly growing construction sector. The company anticipates annual net sales of approximately $14 million from the new Kirkuk facility, which will also support exports through a combined offering of locally manufactured products and imports from Türkiye.

THE PROSPECTS

Kalebodur's entry into the Iraqi market marks the beginning of a new chapter in its regional growth story. This milestone builds on the strong foundation established by Kaleseramik's operations in Iraq, where its affiliate company, Kalekim, has long held a leading position in the building chemicals sector. With the introduction of Kalebodur, the group aims to elevate ceramic and porcelain tile manufacturing in Iraq—delivering cutting-edge design, technical excellence, and high-performance solutions tailored to the country's flagship construction projects.

Kalebodur's expansion reflects a long-term vision rooted in localization, value-added production, and sustainable development. By investing in Iraq's industrial landscape, the company not only reinforces its market presence but also contributes to the enhancement of the country's manufacturing capabilities.

HUMAN CAPITAL

Young, resilient, and remarkably capable, Iraq's human capital is not only its backbone but also its greatest promise for the future.

In nation branding, few elements are as vital and transformative as human capital. Iraq—a country often portrayed through the lens of past conflicts or its abundant natural resources—holds an even more valuable asset within its borders: its human capital. Young, resilient, and remarkably capable, Iraq's human capital is not only its backbone but also its greatest promise for the future.

With over 35.9% of its population under the age of 14, Iraq is poised to harness a powerful demographic advantage. If empowered with the right education, opportunities, and platforms, this youth bulge could fuel a new era of innovation, entrepreneurship, and global engagement. Iraqi doctors, engineers, academics, artists, and tech talents have made their mark across the world—even amidst adversity—offering a glimpse of what's possible when potential is met with support and vision.

This chapter explores Iraq's workforce dynamics, leading educational institutions, and the broader education ecosystem. Most importantly, it highlights the stories of Iraqis who defy stereotypes, build bridges, and prove that the nation's true wealth lies not beneath its soil, but within the minds of its people.

As we reimagine Iraq's place on the world stage, we must recognize that its human capital is not merely a component of its brand—it is the foundation upon which a new Iraq can be built.

170—201

Culture is the soul of a nation—and for Iraq, that soul runs deep. Known as the "Cradle of Civilization," Iraq’s cultural identity is among the oldest and richest in the world. From the revolutionary advances of ancient Mesopotamia to the poetic spirit of its people, the land of Iraq has profoundly shaped the course of human history. This deep cultural reservoir stands as one of Iraq’s most authentic and powerful assets in shaping its national brand.

Yet for decades, Iraq’s global image has been overshadowed by conflict and geopolitics. In international media, headlines have too often reduced this storied land to scenes of war or oil fields, neglecting its vast artistic, intellectual, and cultural heritage. One of the goals of this chapter—and indeed this book—is to change that narrative. It is time to reintroduce Iraq to the world, especially to Generation Z.

Thanks to improving security conditions, a quiet cultural renaissance is unfolding across the country. Art galleries are emerging in Baghdad and Basra. Contemporary Iraqi fashion designers and athletes are gaining both regional and international recognition. Musicians, filmmakers, and writers are reclaiming their voices. Cultural institutions—from heritage museums to new digital media platforms—are working to preserve and share Iraq’s story in fresh and dynamic ways.

In this chapter, we invite readers to view Iraq not merely as a land of the past, but as a nation whose rich cultural heritage is shaping a bold new identity—one that is capturing international attention.
